INTENDED TO BURN SURVIVING GIRLS

Such is the Frank Admission of One of the Prisoners.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 15.—The five negroes suspected of the brutal murder of the Lyle family, at Barber's Junction, Saturday morning, are resting at night in the Mecklenburg county jail here to-night. There have been disquieting rumors all day that determined citizens of Rowan were coming to Charlotte tonight to lynch the negroes, but so little faith is put in these rumors that no precautions have been taken to guard the prison, and up to a late hour to-night there are no indications of any trouble.

The negroes were slipped out of Rowan jail last night by Sheriff Guitman, right under the noses of the mob, which attacked the jail, and just in time to avert a lynching. There would have been another story to tell had the Rowan authorities not taken the precaution to remove their charges.

A feeling of intense bitterness prevails among the confession of one of the negroes, embracing the frank admission that it was the purpose of the murderers to capture the surviving little girls and burn them alive.

Governor Chase will set a special term of Rowan Court Monday, though there has been no preliminary hearing yet, owing to the danger of taking the prisoners back to Rowan county.

people on this continent a grand event and success.

First on the Ground.

In keeping with these ideas, our commission was the first to officially visit the exposition authorities; the first to present plans for a State Building; to accept the option for the land to dedicate the site and turn the first soil, and the first to commence the erection of the building. Immediate to and during the Revolutionary period, none of the colonies were as closely associated together as Virginia and Rhode Island, and with the exception of Virginia, none are so rich in memories and relics of that period as Rhode Island.

"In addition to the Parliamentary Charter of 1643, the charter of King Charles II. of 1663, under which our State was governed until 1842, we have an original portrait of George Washington, painted by Gilbert Stuart, and the State archives are full of resolutions relating to Rhode Island passed by your House of Burgesses and autograph letters from nearly every Virginian of prominence of that time.

"Our visit to the officials and the exposition site during the past week, the placing us under the auspices of the people of Norfolk and of all Virginians the lavish hospitality, the continuous courtesies shown us, and the deep impressions of regard that we have received will result in a renewal and a strengthening of the bonds that united the colonies in the long ago.

"Permit me to thank you on behalf of the State of Rhode Island and our commission; for the opportunity afforded to express publicly our deep appreciation of the honors accorded and to extend to every Virginian an invitation to our State Building during the term of the Exposition."

TONIC TREATMENT

Weak Stomach and Sick Headache Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, others loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling as of weight on the chest, or a full feeling in the throat. Sometimes the gas presses on the heart and leads the sufferer to think he has heart disease. Sick headache is a frequent and distressing symptom.

A weak stomach needs a digestive tonic, and that there is no better tonic for this purpose than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is shown by the statement of Mr. A. C. Merrill, a mining man, of Oneida, Calif., a veteran of Battalion C, Third U. S. Regular Infantry.

"I had never been well since I left the army," he says, "always having had trouble with my stomach, which was weak. I was run down and debilitated. Could keep nothing on my stomach, and at times had sick headache so bad that I did not care whether I lived or died. My stomach refused to retain even liquid food, and I almost despaired of getting well, as I had tried so many kinds of medicine without relief. Then I was bitten by a rattlesnake and that laid me up from work entirely for a year, six months of which I spent in bed."

"One day a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me and I began taking them. They cured me when all other medicine had failed. I have recommended the pills to a great many, for during my recovery every one asked me what was helping me so and I told them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I cannot speak too highly of them."

If you want good health you must have good blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood and restore shattered nerves. They are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60c per box, six boxes for $2.50 by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

HAYWOOD CONSUL TO HERMIT NATION

Korean Post Regarded as Extremely Difficult Just Now.

IS RESPONSIBLE POSITION

Appointee Preparing to Leave and Cope With Situation in Effort to Open Up Trade.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.—One of the most important consular posts created by the new diplomatic consular reorganization bill is the consulate at Seoul, Korea, which is expected by State Department officials to prove also one of the most difficult.

To this post is being sent one of the ablest addressees to the service that Secretary Root could find—William Haywood, of this city. With a long and brilliant record in consular and international commercial work behind him, it is anticipated that Mr. Haywood will live up to the expectations of the administration and open up the new field in Korea to American trade.

Mr. Haywood is already preparing to leave for his new post and expects to be able to take up his duties of the office early in September. This will not be done, however, till he has had conferences with Luke E. Wright, the new American ambassador at Tokio, as to the situation in Korea, as affected by the Japanese protectorate.

Protectorate Galls Korea.

This protectorate, which is galling to Koreans, is responsible for the most difficult phase of the new work of Mr. Haywood. At the present time the situation at Seoul is reported to be alarming. Japanese police officers are reported to have surrounded the palace, holding the Emperor virtually a prisoner. The request of the Korean Emperor to be given protection in the American consulate, which was formerly the legation, has been denied by this government. So far as this government is concerned, there is no Emperor in Korea, and the former ruler is looked upon as a subject of the Emperor of Japan, the same as any other Korean or Japanese.

His Mission Failed.

Prince Nim, a leading statesman of the little Hermit Kingdom, whose office as minister to France was abolished as a result of the protectorate, came to America to make a protest and appeal to President Roosevelt, as the "champion ruler," but the trip, which was his brother on account of the political situation, just before his arrival on American soil, completely unnerved him, and his plea developed to be only a feeble statement of the situation. Even then he was not officially recognized by the State Department. This incident was followed by the return to his native country of Mr. Kim, the Korean charge d'affaires in Washington.

When Korea lost her identity in the diplomatic world, E. V. Morgan, former secretary of the State Department, was American minister, while Gordon Paddock, of New York, was secretary of legation, and vice and deputy consul general. Since the protectorate was established Mr. Paddock has remained at the post in a consular capacity.

Mr. Haywood's Career.

Mr. Haywood's connection with the State Department dates back many years, for as secretary of the first revenue commission, and was later confidential clerk to different assistant secretaries. He was appointed consul general to Honolulu in 1897, he being the last person to hold that office. When Hawaii was passed into American control, Mr. Haywood was made the first revenue commissioner for the islands, and in 1901, he resigned this position to become the agent in this country of the Hawaiian planters, which office he has since held. While in Honolulu for this government, Mr. Haywood made an excellent record, and was highly commended by the State Department.

Drank Half Gill CARBOLIC ACID

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

MINERAL VA., July 15.—Henry Clay Oliver, a resident of this place, and a long and trusted contributor of the first revenue commission, died suddenly this evening from the effect of drinking a half-gill or more of carbolic acid. It is not definitely known whether he intended to end his life in this awful way, but he was heard to remark just before taking the carbolic acid that he had no friends in this world. He was married, three children and an aged father.

BIG STIR CAUSED BY DIVISION OF CONTRACT

Remored That Midvale Company Will Make Appeal to President Roosevelt.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—It is rumored here that the Midvale Company, the independent concern which submitted the lowest bid for the manufacture of the armor plate for the Michigan and the South Carolina, and which was compelled by order of Secretary Bonaparte to divide the contract, so as to give one-half of it to the steel trust, will appeal to the President to set aside the order of the Secretary of the Navy, and give it all the work, to which its lower bid entitles it.

Plans Tentative.

With its secret, the President's battle-ship will make a thoroughly for a division, and in the natural course of events the senior officer would exercise his functions of a division commander of the fleet. It is quite within the realm of possibility that an officer of flag rank might be assigned to the command of this provisional division for the time of the trip.

After the President returns the ships of course, will be assigned to their respective squadrons of like characteristics. It is assumed that the President will embark at Washington on a small cruise to take him down the coast to Hampton Roads and there go aboard the battleship.

The plans for the President's trip are now tentative, there being no necessity for definite arrangements for a month or six weeks. It is quite sure, however, that the President will be accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, by Secretary Taft and Mrs. Taft. Several others are mentioned as being of the party, but no definite information could be had just now.

Marries Parlormaid.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, July 15.—Sigrid Johanson, for two years parlormaid in the Hotel Manhattan, was married at noon on June 1st in the Protestant Episcopal Church of Zion and St. Timothy, West Fifty-seventh Street, to Charles Engle, a wealthy retired patron of the hotel, whose but she had cared for at meal time during the whole of his residence there. Miss Engle, head housekeeper of the hotel, said yesterday that no one could "blame" Mr. Engle for taking into himself the beautiful Swedish girl, who was "the sweetest little thing that ever lived."

BIG BATTLESHIP FOR PRESIDENT

America's Newest and Most Powerful Fighter Takes Him to the Isthmus.

TWO CONSORTS PLANNED

Women Will Be in the Party, but the Personnel Has Not Yet Been Announced.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, July 15.—When President Roosevelt goes to the Isthmus this fall he will travel there on board the battleship Louisiana, one of the latest and greatest additions to America's battleship armada.

Moreover, two other battleships will accompany the Louisiana when she starts with her Presidential party abroad. It is not yet known who will comprise the party, but it is quite sure that several women from Washington and wives of members of the Cabinet will be among them.

The rule against taking women on board war ships was recently abrogated when Secretary Root took his family on board the protected cruiser Charleston.

Great Ship.

The Louisiana, sister ship of the battleship Connecticut, which was recently completed in the New York Navy Yard, is now at Providence, Mass., where she has been undergoing speed trials over the deep sea course.

The vessel is under the command of Captain A. R. Coudan. She is the first of the pair of 16,000 ton battleships constructed for the navy, and, like her sisters, has a speed of eighteen knots an hour, and carries the most powerful battery ever placed on an American man of war.

Although it is known two other battleships are to accompany the Louisiana on her mission to the Isthmus, the names of the two have not yet been divulged, but one may not go very far astray in guessing that the two battleship sisters, the Rhode Island and Virginia, will be the ones that will be selected.

The time of the trip to the Isthmus will be entirely contingent upon the President's desire, within, of course, the limits of speed of the ships.

When the President returned from his trip to New Orleans at fall he was carried on the West Virginia, flagship of Rear-Admiral Brownson's armored cruiser squadron, all of twenty-two knots or better, and they made pretty speed for several stretches coming up the Atlantic coast. The President is commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and wherever he may be, always ranks superior to any naval officer present.

With its secret, the President's battle-ship will make a thoroughly for a division, and in the natural course of events the senior officer would exercise his functions of a division commander of the fleet. It is quite within the realm of possibility that an officer of flag rank might be assigned to the command of this provisional division for the time of the trip.

GUATEMALAN ARMY ROUTED WITH LOSS

question of declaration of war, regarding which President Bonilla, of Honduras, to-day announced that Honduras had made no declaration of war, and that "Guatemala invaded territory without previous declaration." It is stated that while both the leader of the Salvadoran forces, changed the situation. It is pointed out that as no territorial or boundary question is in dispute, the matter of indemnity for invasion of territory would be a main question before the Peace Conference.

Hope for Peace.

So far no advances have reached this government regarding the basis which took place Saturday night, and in which, as stated in San Salvador, the Salvadoran army defeated the Guatemalan forces at Panamint. The advances regarding the Central American situation were forwarded to the President at Oyster Bay by Acting Secretary of State Bacon, who is in charge of State Department affairs during the absence of Secretary Root. Mr. Bacon made arrangements to leave Washington for Oyster Bay on the midnight train to-night.

All that Mr. Bacon would say regarding the situation was that everything is progressing favorably. The Navy Department had no advices from Central America today in connection with the conflict.

Complicates Situation.

The fact that Honduras has been drawn into the Central American conflict complicates the situation there. The Associated Press is informed that President Barrilla, of Honduras, may be compelled by President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, and President Escalon, of Salvador, both of whom are said to be enemies of President Estrada Cabrera, of Guatemala, to take sides with them.

Dr. Fernando Sanchez, former Minister of Foreign Affairs in the cabinet of President Zelaya, who is now here, says he believes Honduras was provoked by President Cabrera, who, it is reported, furnished arms and financial aid to former President Juan Angel Armas and General Rivas to start a revolution in Honduras and Salvador, where they enjoy great prestige. Dr. Sanchez adds that unless the reported death of General Tomas Regalado, commander of the Salvadoran army, be true, Guatemala, in his opinion, stands no chance of defeating the coalition.

Regalado, WITH FEW FOLLOWERS, DIED, FIGHTING

Little Party Ran Into Overwhelming Force, but Sold Lives Dearly.

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—It is now known that General Regalado, of Salvador, lost his life in a scouting expedition. He was in command of his army on the border of Guatemala when he resolved to explore within the border of Guatemala. He started out accompanied only by an adjutant and a small escort, when he came unexpectedly upon a large body of Guatemalan regulars, who overwhelmed his force. Regalado and his escort sold their lives dearly, making a heroic fight and killing many of their foes. But they were exterminated. No quarter was asked.

Ready With Big Army.

The Consul-General of Mexico, in Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, reports officially that, in spite of the strict neutrality, hitherto maintained by the Honduras government, the territory of that country was invaded by Guatemalan troops. When a conflict occurred, this invasion was an act of war. Honduras has more than 50,000 militia, mostly well-armed, and will prove a valuable ally of Salvador and of the revolutionists.

When the Guatemalan troops crossed over into Honduras, the country had some two thousand troops engaged in guarding the frontier to preserve neutrality. Honduras considers its well-maintained neutrality was violated by Guatemala. Honduras, of course, asserts that they can mobilize within two weeks a powerful army. Both Honduras and Salvador have long been on good terms. It is believed in Central America that the United States will not attempt, except by moral suasion, to bring about peace.

Will Let Outsiders Choose.

The Guatemalan revolutionists say they will accept any President for that country that may be jointly agreed upon by President Diaz and President Roosevelt. They claim that this shows that they are quick to accept the good of the government, and that they will carry out the terms of General Barrilla's proclamation, assuring the amplest protection to American and foreign interests in Guatemala.

The Mexican government is endeavoring in good faith to protect its southern border. General Barrilla, who is admitted to be chief of the revolution, is still in this city. He says he has the utmost confidence in the success of the revolution.

A large number of eminent Guatemalans are in prison. The country is denuded of laborers and coffee cannot be picked. No corn has been planted. Salvador has received an important war loan and is in a position to make a long campaign.

MOTHER OF GIRL DENIES STORIES

In the world can realize it except a mother. I have read these awful stories, and they seemed like arrows to pierce me through and through; I have a mother's heart; I have a mother's love. Oh! I wish I could tell it all.

"But I am going to answer their slanders," said the mother. "They say, 'Her mother put her on the stage.' False! I didn't put her on the stage. I wouldn't put a child of mine on the stage. I fought against it as earnestly as a mother could. They say I brought Mr. Lederer to me. It was George W. Lederer I am talking of. See him, and he'll tell you it is true."

"I want to say right here that Mr. Lederer was as good as a man could be to the girl. There has been some awful story about Evelyn being a co-responder in a Lederer suit. False, false, as it can be. Why, Mr. Lederer, 'She is her like a father,' said to me 'She is wonderful, wonderfully handsome, and I'll make her as famous as I made Edna May.' He did everything a man could do to see that Florence did not lose sight of her object—which was to be a great actress. He said to me, 'Don't let her go home alone. Don't let her go to rehearsal alone. Come to the stage door with her. Be with her always,' and those very rules I followed. Never was she alone, never did she go home alone, while she was under my control."

Won't Talk of White.

"There, dear," said her husband, kindly, "don't say any more; you might say too much. Do not talk of the Thaw case or of White."

"No, I mustn't," said Mrs. Holman. "But there'll come a time when I'll talk. 'But can't you say how Evelyn got out from under your control,' was the inquiry."

Not Now.

But having said this Mrs. Holman went on to speak of the details of her guardianship.

"I would go with Evelyn to the stage door even at midnight. I was always there to greet her when the performance was over. I went with her to rehearsals. I wouldn't let her go to rehearsal alone. I had a headache; then I would send her brother. She was never out at night—never. If Mr. Lederer took her out to dinner he asked me to go along. He was a kind, good man to her, and that was all. I wouldn't let her go to New York to join your daughter."

"I've wanted to—God knows I've wanted to," answered the mother. "Then she bit her lips and said no more. 'Is it true that you introduced your daughter to Stanford White?'"

Is False!

"Is it false!" exclaimed Mrs. Holman. "But there'll come a time when I'll talk. 'But can't you say how Evelyn got out from under your control,' was the inquiry."

"Not now," exclaimed the mother. "But having said this Mrs. Holman went on to speak of the details of her guardianship."
